

Nickolas Bass is a trumpet player based in Atlanta, Georgia. Born in Melbourne, Florida, Nick grew up in a household that was very music friendly and knew from an early age that he wanted to pursue music in some way, shape, or form. He recently graduated with his Bachelor of Arts in Commercial Music from Florida State University where he received training in both trumpet performance as well as audio engineering. Nick was a part of the Renegade trumpet ensemble which competed in the National Trumpet Competition. The group won several awards placing 3rd nationally in 2018 and 2nd nationally in 2019. During his time at FSU, he studied under the renowned Dr. Christopher Moore, as well as received instruction from such greats as Mnozil Brass, Allen Vizzutti, and several other university professors. Nick currently works at Blue Room Recording Studios in Midtown as an audio engineer and maintains a studio of private trumpet students.